

If the Typeface on a Website is Too Small to Read...

When you find yourself on a Web site where the typeface is too small to read comfortably, you can increase the type size by holding down on the CTRL key and rotating the wheel on your mouse to get the size that you want. This strategy will work with most word processing documents, email messages and PDF files.